

Optimize Costs With Effective Medical Cost Management

As medical costs continue to rise, insurance providers can find it difficult to meet member and provider demands and stay within budget. That's how one health insurance provider found itself with:

Reimbursement costs
2.5 times over the projected rate

Increased surgical claims due to ICD-10
conversion

Increased volume in professional claims

Limited insight to the root cause of these increases

That's why the provider turned to NTT DATA Services. Using our medical cost management analytics suite, we evaluated the client's raw EDI claims data and provided a flexible, customized solution that included:

A cost-effective
engagement model
via multi-shoring
resources

More effective, accurate results via a comprehensive review of 100% of every claim submitted for a specified time period

With the NTT DATA solution, the client was able to:

Increase visibility into the claims data flow and processing

Identify the root cause for reimbursement cost increases

Determine opportunities for revenue optimization

Reduce costs by identifying operational inefficiencies

Transform your health plan with solutions tailored to your business needs.
